HELP FARMER TO PLAN CROP

SPECIALISTS FROM EXTENSION SERVICE HERE MARCH 14.

AN ALL DAY SESSION

About 200 County Agricultural Leaders With Bankers, Farm Loan Agents Are Invited.

An all-day meeting of Nodaway County farmer leaders, business men and specialists from the Extension Service of the College of Agriculture, University of Missouri, to be held here March 14, was announced today by J. Ross Fleetwood, county agricultural extension agent.

The meeting, which is called by the Extension Service an "Outlook Meeting," will start at 10 a. m. March 14 and will be held in the circuit courtroom of the courthouse.

Mr. Fleetwood explained that the meeting is to be held for purpose of giving information on the agricultural outlook for the general farm crops, and for livestock, orchards and garden crops this year. Facts will be presented that have been gathered by the United States Department of Agriculture, as applicable to Missouri conditions, to help the farmers plan their farm operations this year in relation to the general economic situation.

The "outlook meetings" are being sponsored by the College of Agriculture of the University through the extension service in twenty-six counties in Missouri. Only two such meetings will be held in this section in Northwest Missouri, the one here and one in Gentry County.

The five representatives of the College of Agriculture who will be here March 14 to aid the farmers in planning their crops are E. A. Logan, agricultural statistician for the United States Department of Agriculture; Harry C. Hensley, extension specialist in marketing; D. C. Wood, extension specialist in farm management; G. B. Thorne, of the agricultural department of economics of the University of Missouri; and J. Ross Fleetwood, Nodaway County extension agent.

These men will be in charge of the meeting as representatives from the College of Agriculture and Mr. Fleetwood will preside.

It was stated by the extension agent that invitations are being prepared to be sent to about 200 persons in the county. However, it will not be distinctly a Nodaway County meeting, as delegates chosen from the surrounding counties will be here. The personnel of the meeting will include agricultural leaders of the county to be chosen from the officers and directors of the various farmers organizations, co-operative marketing exchanges, mutual fire insurance companies, farm loan agencies, bankers and the agricultural committees from the chamber of commerce and the judges of the county court.

The program for the Outlook Meeting, as outlined by Mr. Fleetwood:

1. Purpose and scope of the agricultural outlook.
2. The general agricultural situation, including domestic demand, foreign demand, agricultural credit and farm labor and equipment.
3. Corn and hog outlook.
4. Beef cattle and sheep outlook.
5. Dairy outlook.
6. Poultry and egg outlook.
7. Horse and mule outlook.

Wife's Death Probed; Father and Son Held

Body of Mary Jackson, 22, Second Wife of Marion Jackson, Ash Hill, Found in Shallow Grave.

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Feb. 16.—Marion Jackson, Ash Hill farmer, and his 16-year-old son, Earl, were held in the county jail here today while authorities investigated the death of Mary Jackson, 22, the farmer's second wife, whose body was dug from a shallow grave on Jackson's farm.

The young bride had been missing six weeks before the discovery of the body, according to the authorities. Jackson had explained at the time of the disappearance that his wife was in the habit of absenting herself periodically.

The body was found after dogs had scraped away the thin layer of earth that covered it. Jackson denied knowledge of his wife's death and burial. They had one small child besides Earl, Jackson's son by a previous marriage.

The inquest is to be held today at Fisk, Mo.

WOMEN HOLD RUG MEETING

EXTENSION SPECIALIST HERE FROM COLUMBIA.

GIVES DEMONSTRATION

Worker Explains Making of Braided, Crocheted and Hooked Floor Coverings; Suggests Colors.

Miss Julia Rocheford, extension specialist in home economics from the University of Missouri conducted a meeting on home-made rugs at the office of J. Ross Fleetwood, county agricultural agent, yesterday afternoon.

Braided, crocheted and hooked rugs were among those discussed.

Miss Rocheford made several suggestions for color combinations. Among them were:

Suggestions for color combinations in bedrooms: old rose and gray; old rose, gray and black; old rose, dull blue and glack; gray, blue and orange; blue and gray; blue and white; dark blue and light blue; blue and yellowish tan; green, rose and gray; green and gray; green and white; lavender and white; lavender and black; brown and tan; brown and orange; pink and gray.

Suggestions for color combinations in living room, hall or dining room: gray, black, dull rose; gray and black; gray, blue, orange and black; blue, gray and old rose; brown and orange; tan and dull green; brick red, blue, dull yellow and black; gray, black, blue purple and dull yellow; dark blue, red and gray.

For braided rugs Miss Rocheford suggested as materials cotton or woolen blankets, heavy cotton goods or light weight woolen goods. They should be sewed into one long strip, ends cut diagonally and fitted together.

For crocheted rugs any cotton material that does not ravel easily will do. The rugs should be laid out flat occasionally during the process of crocheting in order to make sure that the rug will lie flat.

In making hooked rugs, silk, light weight woolen goods and knit goods. The work is easier when foundation is stretched on a frame which can be made of light weight lumber and similar to quilting frames. Or the frame may be made on legs so that the worker may sit in front of it.

Among the club leaders who attended the meeting yesterday were: Mrs. D. Neidel, Herron Homemaking Club; Mrs. S. E. Fisher, Maryville; Mrs. Claude Moore, Rockford Community Club; Mrs. Glenn Acklin, Lyle Community Club; Mrs. Otis Lyle, C. C. Club, Swallow District; Mrs. Will Bainum, Myrtle Tree; Mrs. Roy Kelley, Myrtle Tree; James Evans, Swallow District; Karl Kimmerman, Knabb. Miss Bertha Parish and J. R. Evans were visitors.

'Missouri McCormack' to Give Recital Here

Edward L. Keating of Moberly, Mo., to Sing at Newman Club Benefit, February 22.

Edward L. Keating of Moberly, "Missouri's McCormack," will be the featured artist in a benefit musicale announced today by the Newman Club of the State Teachers College, to take place in the College auditorium Tuesday night, February 22.

Mr. Keating is possessed of a remarkable tenor voice, and while he has never sung on the professional concert stage, he has a large and constantly growing following in Central Missouri. These persons frequently declare they would "rather hear Eddie Keating than McCormack."

The Moberly singer gave a program last week at Shenandoah at a reunion of the passengers on the steamer during last summer's Kiwanis Club excursion from Shenandoah to London.

He will be assisted here by Miss Helen Dvorak, violin, and Miss Mary Carpenter, piano.

W. J. Studer Goes Home.

W. J. Studer, advertising manager of the Democrat-Forum, who underwent an operation at the St. Francis Hospital, Friday morning, was taken to his home today. He is much improved. Billy, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Studer, who has been ill at the hospital, is also improving.

G. M. Ellsworth of Kansas City is visiting in Ravenwood with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Ellsworth.

MAYBE SPRING IS HERE.

With a thermometer on the west side of Main street registering 50 degrees above zero at 3 p. m. today and another on the sunny side of West Third showing the mercury at the 57 mark, forecasts of an early spring were in evidence as big boys shot marbles on the courthouse lawn.

Very few overcoats were seen, but many galoshes still were heard sloshing up and down the main thoroughfare, while Mayor W. O. Garrett, directed employes of the water department as they flushed the muddy pavements with water from the fire hydrants.

CONVICTS MAY BE SENT BACK

VALIDITY OF "MA" FERGUSON'S TEXAS PARDONS ATTACKED.

COURT MAKES RULING

Public Opinion Brings Action In Case Of Life Termer.—May Affect 100 Others.

Austin, Tex., Feb. 16.—More than 100 ex-convicts who were granted full pardons from the Texas penitentiary by former Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today faced the unpleasant prospect of being returned to serve their sentences ranging up to life terms.

Pressure brought to bear in the case of G. T. Dukes, convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment, resulted in a full investigation by state attorneys and an opinion was handed down today by the Court of Criminal Appeals that Dukes would have to show the validity of his pardon or be imprisoned.

Dukes had an appeal pending at the time the pardon was granted and the legal technicalities involved invalidated it, the court held. The appeal was dismissed today.

Pardoned convicts affected by the ruling do not have a clear title to freedom, in the opinion of prominent attorneys and jurists, who received the woman governor's wholesale pardon list today.

M. F. A. MEET IS POSTPONED TO MARCH

County Convention, Scheduled for Today Is Deferred on Account of Bad Roads.

The county convention of the Missouri Farmers Association has been postponed until 1 o'clock the afternoon of Tuesday, March 1. It will be held in the circuit courtroom of the courthouse.

The meeting, set for today, was postponed when four members of the Association, including the president, secretary, a director and a member, gathered on the steps of the courthouse about 1:45 p. m., and decided that muddy condition of the roads had prevented a sufficient number of members to get here to justify a meeting.

John Bosch, secretary, will give his report at the postponed meeting, officers and directors will be elected and J. Ross Fleetwood, county extension agent, will explain the purpose of the "Outlook Meeting" sponsored by the College of Agriculture Extension Service for March 14.

E. V. Condon Is Now Registered Druggist

Mr. Condon received notice today from the board that he passed the examination, which took place at Jefferson City, January 10.

A STRANGE MAN

Wealthy, a bachelor, about 50 years of age, Garrett Folsom was a puzzle to most of his friends in that they knew so little about him. Even his sister was in ignorance as to his real character.

That is one of the things that make the thrilling mystery story "All at Sea," even more mysterious. Garrett Folsom is murdered —and then secrets from his past begin to bob up and things begin to happen. Turn to "All at Sea" today—on page 2.

CALIFORNIA IN STORMS' GRIP

24 KNOWN DEAD AND TOLL IS MOUNTING.

11 DIE IN AVALANCHE

Traffic Accidents, Train Wrecks And Other Disasters Add To List. —Cities Isolated.

San Francisco, Feb. 16.—With the death toll mounting steadily as reports from additional storm damage came in from all sections of the state, California was swept by wind, rain and snows today.

In snowslides, traffic accidents, train wrecks and other catastrophes, at least twenty-four persons have met death in the last twenty-four hours.

Eleven persons, ten men and a woman, were killed in an avalanche which buried a construction camp far back in the Sierras. Six of the bodies had been recovered today, when fresh snowstorms swept down and forced cessation of the work.

Two Killed In Wreck.

The engineer and one unidentified man were killed when a Union Pacific overland limited went through a bridge near Whittier, Cal.

While rains swept the state, bringing the total precipitation in most sections to far over normal, high seas lashed the coast andsimperiled shipping.

Few boats were venturing forth. The San Francisco pilot boat Adventuress crept back through the Golden Gate after a night battle with the storm in which a formast was swept away and other damage done.

At Ventura, north of Los Angeles, a river burst its banks and endangered thirty families in an automobile camp. Summer cottages along the ocean were tied to trees in some sections, while other light structures were swept from their foundations into the seas.

High Winds Swept City.

High winds blew through San Francisco early today, breaking windows in some sections, blocking street car traffic and doing other damage.

Train service was demoralized throughout the state. Only one line was operating out of Los Angeles.

San Diego was completely cut off from the rest of the state, having no railway, highway or wire communication.

Aside from the snowslide catastrophe, the greatest loss of life was occasioned by traffic accidents, chiefly in Southern California.

Torrential rain storms made motor driving difficult. In some sections of northern San Diego county, nearly seven inches of rain fell during the past twenty-four hours.

Reed Asked to Speak to State Legislature

Action on Proposed Penitentiary Probe Delayed by Motion for Printing Senate Resolution.

Jefferson City, Feb. 16.—A joint resolution inviting Senator James A. Reed to address the General Assembly at any time which may suit his convenience was adopted by the Senate today.

The resolution, which was introduced by Senator M. E. Casey of Kansas City, extends an invitation to the senator to address the Legislature on any subject he chooses.

Jefferson City, Feb. 16.—Action on the proposed investigation of the Missouri penitentiary under the Enloe penal board was delayed again today when a motion was adopted by the House providing for the printing of the Senate investigating resolution and an amendment offered by Representative O. J. Page of Springfield, Republican leader.

Dogs Are Unpopular at Pickering Now

Officer Kills 12 Stray Animals; Many Owners Are Shooting Pets as Preventive Measure.

Officer William Hewitt of Pickering has killed twelve stray dogs in his territory, it was reported today, as a preventive measure against the spread of hydrophobia among the animals of that vicinity. Many other dogs have been killed by their owners, it was reported.

Because of the "mad" dog score at Pickering and surrounding country and the discovery of rabies in animals from that section, every precaution is being taken to stop the spread of the disease.

Charges American Boycott in Mexico

Action of Financial and Economic Powers Assailed by Mexican C. of C.

Washington, Feb. 16.—A financial and economic boycott of Mexico by American bankers and business men is having a deadly effect upon that country, Jose Miguel Benjarano of the Mexican Chamber of Commerce, New York, protested before the Senate foreign relation subcommittee today.

Benjarano charged American bankers are influencing diplomats in relations between the two countries.

"The United States is fast approaching a serious crisis in which it is in danger of losing the friendship of all Latin-American countries," Benjarano said.

FARM RELIEF IS PUT ASIDE

HOUSE DELAYS VOTE ON McNARY-HAUGEN MEASURE.

SUBSTITUTE OFFERED

First Votes Will Be On Aswell and Curtis-Crisp Plans.—Caraway Ridicules Mellon.

Banking Bill to President.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Under stress of the seldom used cloture rule to limit debate, the Senate today passed the Pepper-McFadden banking bill. It has already passed the House and now goes to the President for signature.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Secretary of the Treasury, Mellon, "wouldn't know the difference between a cow and a horse, if the cow were dehorned," Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, told the Senate today in a speech assailing Mellon for opposing the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill.

Caraway contended the cotton farmer already has been benefitted from the action of the Senate in passing the bill. More than 193,000 bales were bought last week, compared with 60,000 bales the corresponding week last year, he said.

When Mellon's attack indicated Coolidge would veto the bill, buying fell off considerably the Arkansas Senator asserted.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The McNary-Haugen farm relief bill was laid aside by the House today to permit consideration of small bills from the territories and insular committees.

The farm bill will be called up again tomorrow with action pending on the Aswell bill, which has been offered as a substitute. Should Aswell's bill be defeated, which appears likely, the Curtis-Crisp bill will be offered as a substitute.

Farm leaders believe a final vote will be reached late tomorrow.

Secretary Mellon's letter attacking the Haugen-McNary bill failed to make even the slighest recognizable dent in the legislative situation on Capitol Hill.

The opposition to the measure decided not to make the decisive test on the rule put forward yesterday, which substituted the measure recently passed by the senate for the house bill. The rule went through by the lopsided vote of 202 to 62. With many administration leaders who are bitterly opposed to the bill voting for the rule on the basis it was the custom to make such substitution to facilitate legislation, the roll call afforded no test of house sentiment, but the vote did afford ground for a general hunch the farm bloc had a sizable and workable majority. Otherwise the opposition probably would have forced the issue yesterday.

The farm bloc, is in position to keep the bill from going to conference, where it would have to run the risk of a senate filibuster. It means, if they can stave off amendment and pass the bill, and nearly everyone agrees the majority is there, the bill will go at once from Capitol Hill to the White House, where President Coolidge must determine its fate. Again the belief is, especially in view of Secretary Mellon's open opposition, that there is no question of a presidential veto.

Ernest Wray to Aid in Cole County Drive

Ernest Wray, vice-president of the State Farm Bureau, will leave Saturday for Jefferson City, where he will assist members of the Cole County Farm Bureau in a membership drive. Mr. Wray expects to be gone all next week.

PAYS NO HEED TO PRESIDENT

CONGRESS FOLLOWS OWN COURSE IGNORING COOLIDGE.

SENATE INDEPENDENT

In Addition to Legislative Reverses, Executive Has Had Two Treaties and Nominations Turned Down.

Washington, Feb. 16. — Although Presidents usually have plenty of trouble with unruly Congresses, President Coolidge's difficulties for the short session, now nearing a close, have been more extensive than ordinarily.

Upon practically all important legislative problems, Congress has charted its own course and declined to follow the chart of the chief executive.

The House has been only fairly responsive to presidential desires, but the Senate has been downright phlegmatic, in its usual senatorial way. A survey today showed two of the President's nominations have been turned down in the upper house and two administrative treaties have been ditched.

No Spectacular Breaks.

There have been no spectacular breaks between the White House and Congress, but the record shows Congress has turned from the presidential program in the following matters.

Tax reduction.—The President's recommendation for temporary reduction relief on payments to be made in March went without action, and the Senate adopted a resolution, 52 to 28, recommending that the Treasury surplus be used for debt retirement rather than tax reduction.

Naval expansion.—Mr. Coolidge's recommendation for delay in construction of authorized naval cruisers was ignored by the Senate, 49 to 27, but was followed in the House, although Speaker Nick Longworth and Republican leaders took the floor against it.

Farm relief.—Despite apparently authentic reports that Mr. Coolidge will veto the McNary-Haugen bill, the Senate adopted the measure, 47 to 39, and defeated Secretary of Agriculture Jardine's plan, 32 to 54.

Arbitration Is Urged.

Foreign policies.—A resolution urging the President to arbitrate difficulties with Mexico was adopted by the Senate, 79-0, although the Republican leaders made plain that there were certain questions in the Mexican dispute Mr. Coolidge would never submit to arbitration. Although the government's Nicaraguan policies were sporadically criticised, the Senate has refused to pass the Wheeler resolution urging Mr. Coolidge to withdraw marines there.

Treaties.—The poison gas treaty which Mr. Coolidge sent to the Senate was ditched by reference back to the foreign relations committee because it faced defeat, and the Lausanne peace treaty with Turkey was killed by a record vote.

Nominations.—The President's nomination of Cyrus Woods, Pennsylvania, to be a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, was defeated, 28 to 49. Mr. Coolidge, it was said however, was not very much aroused by this action. The nomination of William Tilson, as federal judge in Georgia, was withdrawn when it faced defeat.

Pershing Intercedes for Condemned Negro

Governor Baker Heeds General's Request In Granting Reprive For Robert A. Johnson.

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 16.—The intercession of General John J. Pershing commander of the American Expeditionary Forces in the World War, won a reprive for Robert A. Johnson, negro, sentenced to hang Jan. 28, it has been revealed here.

Johnson rote Pershing that he had been a member of the A. E. F. and asked if that entitled him to any consideration. Pershing then wrote Governor Sam A. Baker that he had verified Johnson's overseas service but knew nothing of the case.

"When such a distinguished citizen of Missouri as John J. Pershing asks that I consider a case, I believe he is entitled to be heard," said Baker.

Johnson was granted a 30-day reprive.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

From the veranda of the Hotel Majusaca, at Ocean Town, N. J., TITUS RIGGS, a guest, sees a man taken from the ocean and laid on the beach while a crowd gathers to stare.

The reader has been introduced to these bathers:

NED BARRON, the copper king, and his wife, MADELINE; ANGELICA FAIR and her fiance, ROBIN SEARS; Robin's father, CROYDON SEARS; CARMELITA VALDON and her companions, ROGER NEVILLE, GARRETT FOLSOM and MRS. BARNABY, whom everyone calls THE DUCHESS.

From the shocked expression on the faces of the throng, Riggs surmises that the man is dead and, putting down his field glasses, he hastens down to the beach to learn that the dead man is Garret Folsom.

The body is brought to the hotel and Folsom's valet, ROSS, is summoned.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER III

Clearly, few desired to stay in that room of death unless obliged to do so.

"Is—is that my master, sir?" Ross said, looking timorously at the shrouded figure.

"We assume it is," Dixon returned gently, for he was of a kindly nature.

He turned back the blanket, and with a slight shudder Ross looked at the dead ma

"Yes," he said, "yes, sir, that is Mr. Folsom. I am his man. What happened to him?"

"We only know that he died while in bathing. Was he subject to cramp or acute indigestion, or any sudden illness?"

"No, sir. That is, not to say subject to such. But he has had cramp in the water, and he has also had indigestion attacks. But never what I would call serious. Are you—are you sure he's—gone, sir? He looks so lifelike, you see."

"There's no hope, my man. He is surely dead. Are you here alone with him?"

"Yes, sir. We came yesterday afternoon. Got in about four."

"From where?"

"From New York city last. But Mr. Folsom lives in Chicago."

"I know. Now, we may want to question you further later. But just now we have to do the most necessary things first. Who are Mr. Folsom's friends here?"

"Mr. Roger Neville, sir, is his friend and they're associated in business, too. I suppose he'll—er—take charge of everything, sir."

"Yes, I suppose so. Has Mr. Folsom left a wife—a widow?"

"Oh, no, sir, he wasn't married. He has a sister in Chicago, that's all his relatives—except a nephew."

"How long have you been with Mr. Folsom?"

"Nearly four years."

"Have you been down here with him before?"

"Yes, sir. Three years ago. Not since that."

"Where were you this morning when Mr. Folsom went in bathing?"

"I was in the ocean, too, part of the time. Mr. Folsom told me to take a dip when he did but to be back in time to wait on him when he came in. So I've been up in his rooms waiting for him. Somebody just telephoned up there and when I answered, told me to come down here. So here I am. What must I do sir."

Though Ross addressed himself mostly to Pelham, the manager of the hotel, it was really Dixon, the detective, who was conducting the whole affair. He was a more capable and quick-witted man than Pelham, and better fitted to cope with the unusual situation the management now found himself in.

So Dixon gave Ross his orders.

"There's not much for you to do at the moment, Ross," he said. "But I think the first thing for you to look after is the clothing that Mr. Folsom wore this morning. It is, I suppose, in his bathhouse."

"It must be, sir. Shall I go for it? Where is the key?"

"Why I don't know, I'm sure. Probably with the bathing master, since it is not on the body. Though at that, he may have had it round his neck or wrist.'

"I think not. I think Mr. Folsom usually left it at the bathing master's office. He disliked the bother of it round his neck."

"Well, hunt it out, if you can, and get the clothes and belongings from the bathhouse. Have you the key to Mr. Folsom's suite?"

"I have one and Mr. Flosom had one. I daresay his is in the pocket of his coat, unless he left it at the desk."

"It will turn up then. You go, now, and get his clothes; there may be jewelry or valuable papers that ought to be secured. If so, turn them in at the desk and have them put in the safe. You seem to have been in Mr. Folsom's confidence."

"Oh, yes, sir. He often said I was his confidential clerk as well as his man servant. He didn't mean that exactly, but—oh, well, sir, he trusted me."

The dignity and simplicity of this statement carried weight, and after a gaze of deep scrutiny Dixon concluded that though he showed little grief at the sudden taking off of his master, the man was beyond all doubt faithful and honest.

Pelham agreed silently with this conclusion and Ross went off on his errand.

It was just as he departed that Roger Neville came, looking nervous and excited.

"May I come in?" he asked, as he paused at the door.

"Do. You're the man we want," Pelham said. "You are a friend of Mr. Folsom's?"

What really happened to him? I mean, "Yes, I've known him for years. was it death by drowning, or some sort of heart attack?"

"We're not sure yet," Pelham said; "we're waiting for Doctor Manning."

"Meanwhile," put in Dixon, "will you please tell us of Mr. Folsom's people and advise us as to what to do with the body?"

"As to his people, he has a sister in Chicago who will, of course, be the one most interested. I suppose it would be best to telegraph her and await her reply. Then doubtless the body will have to be sent to his Chicago home."

"Probably," agreed Dixon. "He was a rich man?"

"Off and on," said Neville, with a dry smile. "He was a lawyer, but he had various other interests. And he was the sort of man who makes a fortune one day and loses it the next."

"Speculation?"

"Yes. Stock gambling. But he was an important man, and he must be looked after properly. I am ready to do anything I can, of course, but I confess I don't want to send the wire to Miss Folsom, telling her of her brother's death. Can't the hotel do that?"

"Yes, certainly. Who else here was a friend of Mr. Folsom's?"

"He only came yesterday, you know, and, though I daresay plenty of people here in the hotel knew him, or knew of him, I'm not sure I can name any."

"You were with him this morning. Who else was in the party?"

Reluctantly Neville gave the names of Mrs. Barnaby and Mrs. Valdon. He knew they would resent this, for it might lead to unpleasant publicity, but he could see no way out.

"Why do you hestitate, Mr. Neville?" asked the astute Dixon. "Surely these ladies can have no objection to announcing their friendship with Mr. Folsom."

"No, not that," Neville responded, "but they naturally shrink from the idea of being interviewed by reporters, and all that—"

"Oh, I don't believe Mr. Folsom is such a widely known character that his death will make a great stir so far away from his home."

Pelham, the hotel manager, said this with a sudden return of his dignity and pride in his house, which, he felt had harbored too many celebrities to be greatly concerned with the death of a Chicago lawyer.

"Well," Dixon said, "I'll send the telegram to the sister—what is her address, Mr. Neville? And would it be better to send it to someone else, a brother lawyer of business friend, and let him tell the lady?"

"No," Neville told him, "don't try to break it gently. Miss Folsom is not that sort. Tell her the straight facts. She will take it standing, and unless I miss my guess, she will come here by the first possible train."

"I hope she will," Pelham said. "That will relieve us of all responsibility. Meantime I think we can send the body to the undertaker."

"After we get the doctor's certificate," Dixon amended. "Were you at Mr. Folsom's side when he went under, Mr. Neville?"

"Oh, no, I was some distance away. Mr. Folsom was holding on to the rope."

"Who was next to him? The ladies of your party?"

"I suppose so. I'm not sure."

"I must see them. It is necessary to learn more of the particulars of his death, if possible."

(To Be Continued.)

The inquiry into Folsom's death grows more interesting. Read the next chapter.

Complete Lubrication Saves Dollars

Thousands of motorists have accepted Iso-Vis, the new constant viscosity motor oil. Enthusiasm over this new and better lubricating oil is keen and widespread. Why? The motor runs smoother and better.

With Iso-Vis in the crankcase, the frictional surfaces are protected at all times by a cushion of oil—for Iso-Vis overcomes dilution. It maintains its viscosity (lubricating efficiency) until it is drained off. It costs a little more (30c per quart) but less per mile. Try it! You will like it! For extreme cold weather Iso-Vis "Light" is recommended.

If you feel that you are able to control the dilution factor in your car yourself, and yet want maximum lubrication at minimum expense, use Polarine. Made in six grades—25c per quart. There is a grade made expressly for your car and that grade will lubricate thoroughly the remotest frictional surfaces of your motor.

Get Iso-Vis or Polarine at any Standard Oil Service Station or at any authorized garage or filling station displaying the emblems shown above.

An engagement of interest to Maryville friends is that of Miss Eileen Bricker, daughter of Dr. L. O. Bricker of Atlanta, Ga., a former pastor of the Christian Church in Maryville, and George H. Garcia Hevia of Mexico City, Mexico. The bride-elect attended Washington Seminary, Ashby Hall in Charleston, S. C., and the Chatham Episcopal Institute in Chatham, Va. Mr. Hevia's father was premier of Mexico during the presidency of Madero, and was severely wounded at the time of Madero's assassination. Snappy New Sport Coats

What is a Sport Coat?

Anything but a dress coat—yet it can be that, too.

Something you can wear to business or shopping. To the movie or out to the links, motoring or on the train.

Something a bit more pert and assertive or a shade more protective than the coat you wear in your afternoon calls or in evening visits.

Something to go with perky hats, smart walking shoes, and distinctive hose.

There isn't a woman today who doesn't need a sport coat as much as she needs a dress coat—maybe more; she's got to have both anyway.

Sport coats never were smarter or more attractive than this season. Dainty checks, dog tooth and ombre plaids; basket cloth, herringbone tweeds and tapestry weaves are only a few of the beautiful fabrics, and to fit the miss, maid and matron.

This and That

When Mr. Nick Sturm's father settled in this part of the county, all the pioneers were living along the creeks. The elder Sturm settled in the prairie and he was considered very foolish and was told that the family would "starve." It was thought then that the prairie would grow nothing because there was no water there. Mr. Sturm had the finest corn crop ever raised in this section at that time and residents from miles around came to see the miracle he had wrought.

Mrs. "Shorty" Lawrence had polished all of her furniture one day last week. In fact she had used a half bottle of the "polish" when she discovered she was using Sloan's Liniment. New use for Sloan's. But imagine the odor.

A NAVY FIGHT IN CONGRESS

REAL STRUGGLE FORECAST OVER NEW CRUISERS BILL.

NOW IN CONFERENCE

Representatives of House and Senate Deadlocked on Building Program Opposed by Coolidge.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Congress is facing its first real fight over the navy in the last few hours of the present session. This struggle will be the major one of the final legislative jam.

Conferees on the naval appropriations bill are deadlocked hopelessly over the appropriation for three new cruisers, which the Senate voted against President Coolidge's expressed opposition. The House refused to vote the cruisers and its conferees are standing firm against them.

Representative French, Republican, Idaho, of the House conferees served notice they will not accept the cruisers.

The resistance of the House conferees is due to the recent invitation of President Coolidge for another disarmament conference which would consider limitation of such cruisers as the Senate approved. The President's original opposition was based on plans for another arms limitation conference.

Since the bill was passed, he has taken the initiative through his invitation to the other naval powers. Its issuance at this time was regarded by some as a move to solidify opposition in Congress to the cruiser program.

While it has had some effect, naval champions in the House say they have enough votes to reverse the original position.

SOCIETY

The marriage of Miss Genevieve Tallon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tallon, and Hubert Walk took place at 8 o'clock yesterday morning at St. Mary's Church, the Rev. Father Richard officiating. At the offertory Miss Beatrice Hansen played a violin solo, "Berceuse" by Jocelyn. The high mass was sung by members of St. Mary's choir. The bride wore a gown of brown crepe satin with hat to match and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. The bride's sister, Miss Mary Tallon, as bridesmaid, was attired in tan crepe delene with corresponding hat and she carried an arm bouquet of pink carnations. Edward Walk, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Following the ceremony a breakfast was served at the Tallon home, east of Maryville, for the immediate relatives and Father Richard. The room was decorated in red and white, the predominating feature being a large heart at the end of the hall on which appeared "Seniors—1927." Mr. Nelson received the prize for making the most artistic Valentine and the prize for cutting down the most hearts suspended on a string went to Miss Kramer. The guests came in Valentine costume and the prize for the most appropriate one was given to Dorothy Cox. Other games and contests were enjoyed and partners for lunch were selected by matching "Mother Goose" rhymes printed on hearts. Refreshments included brick ice cream decorated with a red heart and pink and white cake. M. H. S. to Debate Gallatin Tomorrow

Meeting Here Will Decide Whether Local Team Will Enter District Semi-Finals.

A debate which will determine whether Maryville High School will enter in the semi-finals of the district debating league will take place tomorrow afternoon in the High School auditorium with Gallatin High School. The question for argument will be on the World Court issue. The debate will start at 2 o'clock and the public is invited to attend at a small admission charge.

The Maryville team will uphold the negative side of the issue. The name of the debaters will remain unannounced until the debate opens.

If the local team wins, it will be entitled to enter the semi-finals to compete for a place in the final district contest at the State Teachers College, which sponsors the district league.

Maryville, by its victory last week over Gilman City, is qualified to compete in the semi-finals of the state debating league. No word has been received as yet when and with whom Maryville will contest in the next state round.

YEO BROS.

BURLINGTON JUNCTION.

(By J. Howard Thompson).

The citizens of this quiet little town awoke Monday morning to find the ground covered with a coating of three inches of snow. It altogether presented a very pretty picture. However the clouds had disappeared and the sky was clear and the atmosphere warm, and it was not long until the sun began to spoil the beauty.

The Rev. Mr. Prather, the pastor of the Baptist Church in Maryville, was in town Sunday afternoon, having been called to assist the Rev. J. Howard Thompson, the pastor of the Methodist Church here, in the funeral services of Alfred S. Cochran, a long time resident of this community. After the services, Mr. Cochran was taken to the Lamar cemetery, four miles northwest of town where he was buried beside the body of his wife, who died in 1924.

The hard rain and muddy condition of the roads cut the attendance at the services in both churches last Sunday morning. However, the Sunday school at the Methodist church was near the hundred mark, with good interest in all departments.

As soon as the weather permits, the added repair will begin on the Methodist church. A small furnace room, and a coal room will be built, two or three coats of paint will be given the exterior, spouting will be put on around the entire building, and a new sidewalk will be built the full length of the east side of the Church lot, and an outside entrance to the furnace and coal room will be constructed. The people have responded in a very fine way with their subscriptions, with which to complete the job. When done the church will have a very neat appearance.

There were people in attendance upon the funeral rites of Alfred Coehran, Sunday afternoon, from Maryville, Graham, Skidmore, Quitman, and many from Burlington Junction. He had come to Nodaway County as early as 1869, and was well and favorably known here. His children are left now, parentless, as both their father and mother are in their graves.

The men of Nodaway Township, are planning a wolf hunt in the near future. The wolves have become more and more bold of late, in carrying off poultry and young stock, and the men have determined to rid the community of these dangerous pests. An organization is being perfected, and within a few days the hunt will be on. All men are asked to participate.

The Special Hardware sale of J. E. Forsythe, is now on in full blast. The sale closes next Saturday night, and what goods are left over will be packed on Monday and Tuesday of next week, and shipped to Peru, Neb., where he will enter the hardware business, a room having already been rented for that purpose. Mr. Forsythe has been here only a short time, having traded for the Yaple and Son stock of goods a few months ago, and has made many friends, who regret his going. The writers wishes him success in his new field.

George McKnight, of Longmont, Colo., arrive in town Monday morning for a visit with his sister, Mrs. George Bennett. Mr. McKnight was a former resident of town, having been in the mercantile business for a good many years before going to Colorado. He has been in business in Longmont, for the past nine years, but has just now disposed of his stock of goods out there, and is undecided just what he will do for the present. He also has a sister in Maryville, Mrs. T. H. Cook, whom he will visit before returning to his western home.

We are told upon reliable authority, that Mrs. A. P. Skeed, wife of the editor of the Clearmont News, who recently died and was buried at Clearmont, will come to Burlington Junction to make her home with her brother, Wesley Tucker, who lives in South Burlington Junction. This is a move in the right direction and she will be heartily welcomed as one of us.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—Wheat regained nearly all early losses on the Chicago board of trade and closed within a fraction of yesterday's final figures. The market was weak early, with selling induced in part by the lower cables and in part by the lack of buying demand. Receipts were seventeen cars.

After a firm tone early, corn sold off sharply on the drop in wheat prices. There was some commission house buying on the dip and part of the loss was regained. Receipts were quite liberal at 249 cars. The cash market was 1 to 2 cents lower, with poorer grades hard to sell.

Oats also under moderate pressure and lost fractionally on the day. The buying demand was slow and there was scattered local selling. Receipts were 29 cars. The cash trade was steady.

Provisions closed higher.

CAPE INDIANS AN EASY FOE

BEARCATS REPEAT VICTORY BY SAME SCORE, 42-20.

CUBS TRIM BETHANY

Main Game Is Ragged and One-Sided. —Cape Again Tonight, Then Warrensburg Saturday.

The State Teachers College Bearcats had little difficulty in disposing of the Cape Girardeau Indians in the first of two basketball games last night on the College court. The score was the same as in the Maryville-Cape encounter at Cape last Wednesday, 42-20. In a game played after the feature, the College Cubs downed the five from the Bethany Junior College 35 to 12.

The Bearcats played ragged basketball most of the time last night. They showed the results of their long trip last week, and many passes and shots were wild. At times, however, they delighted the crowd with brilliant passing and shooting.

At the half Maryville was leading, 20 to 7, but in the second semester, Mahew, Cape center, got loose for 9 points. Coach Lawrence used five reserves in the second half of the game, and Coach Courleux for Cape Girardeau substituted freely in an effort to find a combination which could stop the Bearcats.

Can Tie Warrensburg Tonight.

Les Davis of the University of Kansas refereed the game. Hugh Graham, a coach at the Maryville High School, worked the aftermath.

Tonight Maryville and Cape Girardeau will meet again on the College court. The Bearcats are now but half a game away from the Warrensburg Mules, M.I.A.A. leaders, and a victory tonight will give them a tie for the top of the percentage column.

Then, on Saturday night, the Bearcats will meet the Mules here, in what will likely be the feature game of the conference season at home. Cape Girardeau will meet Kirksville at Kirksville tomorrow night.

E. C. Quigley will referee the game tonight, and J. C. Cohlmeyer of East High, Kansas City, will work Saturday night's game.

The Cub-Bethany game last night was all one-sided. The Cubs had a decided edge on their younger and less experienced opponents, and it was just a case of how high the score could be run. Harris, a former Westminster star who is ineligible for varsity competition at the College, was the mainstay of the Cub team. He scored eight field baskets.

SPOOFHOUNDS ON ROAD TRIP

LEAVE TOMORROW FOR CAMERON AND CHILLICOTHE.

SUFFER WITH COLDS

Chillicothe Defeated Cameron 26 to 16, Same Score Croy Men Scored Victory Here.

Ten Spoofhounds, with Coaches Wallace Croy and Hugh Graham, leave by bus tomorrow morning for Cameron to engage the high school basketball team there in a return encounter on the second road trip for the local High School cagers. The Spoofhounds play Cameron Thursday night and go on to Chillicothe Friday night.

The two games should prove to be close, as Maryville defeated Cameron here, 26 to 16, and Chillicothe, on the Cameron court, defeated Cameron by the same score.

However, too much cannot be expected from the Spoofhounds, who are in somewhat of a crippled condition. Petty, Alsup and Swinford have not fully recovered from colds which they were battling when they played Westport last Saturday.

Chillicothe has not been defeated this year in seven games. Speaking of the "Hornets," a Chillicothe paper says,

"The game Friday is the one which the Hornets have been looking forward to all season. It is the game which means most to the heretofore undefeated Hornets. Maryville was winner of the district championship last year, winning all of their games by a safe margin and Chillicothe was the only team to hold them to a close score in the tournament."

The coaches announced nine men would make the trip tomorrow, saying they would decide upon the tenth man late this evening. The nine who are sure to make the trip are, Kissinger, center; Petty, Captain and guard; Wilson, forward; Leland Smith, forward; J. Smith, guard; Swinford, forward; Alsup, guard; McMurry, forward; and Keever, utility.

Returns of both games will be received at the Democrat-Forum and Tribune office immediately after they are played.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 16.—Kansas City lays claim to being the basketball center of the world and a glance at figures relating to court play here will verify the fact that the eage sport is firmly entrenched. On all courts in the city it is estimated that 3,500 players see action during the season.
